

CORINTHIAN TERRACOTTA FIGURE

Greek-Archaic, 7th century B.C.

Greek ceramic

Height: 17.5 cm

Reference: 5855

Reference 5855

Greek Terracotta Balsamarium, Corinthian, in the form of a man standing with his right arm held to his side and left hand resting on the crown of his head, and wearing high laced boots and short fringed kilt, his triangular face with short beard, wide straight mouth, short slightly upturned nose, and slightly bulging eyes with incised eyebrows his short hair falling from the circular aperture in straight grooved strands, the details incised and painted in red.

For related balsamaria cf. British Museum, Pastic Vases, nos. 1665 and 1666, and Ortiz Collection, no. 104.

PROVENANCE

Ex. Jean-Marie Talleux collection, Grand Fort Phillipe, France.

BIBLIOGRAPHY

Parallels:

The British Museum

The George Ortiz Collection